Questions Submitted:

1. Are the transect points already established or do they have to be established by the contractor?
They are already established.
2. If they are to be established by the contractor, would GPS coordinates suffice or would you prefer them staked or both?
Please refer to question #1
3. How many transect sampling plots are required?
Please refer to question #1
4. Please see the following link for recent clarification on how the Prevailing Wage Act applies to landscaping work: <http://www.illinois.gov/idol/FAQs/Pages/Landscaping.aspx>. Based on this clarification, it appears that the work requested in this bid is not covered work, and therefore prevailing wage rates would not apply. Given this clarification, could you please provide us with a final decision on if prevailing wage will be required for this project.
Yes, prevailing wage is a requirement for this project. However, it is not JJC's responsibility to provide direction if this falls under laborer, landscaper, planter, etc. This is for the bidding contractor to determine and ensure proper compliancy.
