About MVNU Program:

The MVNU School of Graduate & Professional Studies offers a Bachelor of Social Work degree program with an engaging and relevant curriculum that equips students with the skills and knowledge necessary to become effective social work professionals. Students graduate well-equipped to pursue social work licensure and, if desired, graduate-level education.

The BSW program—which is accredited by the Council on Social Work Education—is designed for students who have an associate degree in human services or social work. However, students who have earned a minimum of 56 transferable semester hours (84 quarter hours) from an accredited university and have completed the necessary social work foundation and cognate requirements are also eligible to apply to the BSW program. Students who have not completed the minimum credit requirement or foundation/cognate courses have the option to enroll in the Associate of Arts in General Studies program at MVNU to complete their remaining credit requirements necessary to begin the BSW program.

About JJC's Program:

A Human Services Professional is a term for people who hold professional and paraprofessional jobs in diverse settings. Human Services is a pathway within the discipline of psychology. It is a broad field covering a number of careers, all having one thing in common—helping people meet their basic needs which cannot be met without outside assistance, allowing people and communities to function at an optimum level. The human services field includes a variety of job titles: including caseworker, program coordinator, outreach counselor, crisis counselor, and victim advocates to name a few.

Human Service professionals work in practice settings focusing on social problems impacting marginalized and oppressed populations. The primary goal of human services is a commitment to helping people develop the necessary skills to become self-sufficient and fully functioning (to the best of their ability), personally and within society.

At Joliet Junior College, you can get an associate degree or work toward a bachelor's or master's. JJC offers easy, convenient transfer agreements with local colleges and universities so you won't have to worry about the logistics - instead, you can focus on what really matters: your future career.
